COURT TEAM WINS LAST TWO GAMES

Buff and Blue [illegible] Season With Victories O[illegible]ion And Hobart

HILER IS HIGH SCORE[illegible]

Veteran Forward Performs Brilliantly In Final Appearances

Finishing its season with a remarkable burst of speed and power, the Hamilton basketball team crashed through to win its final contests by the scores of 35-29 over Union Wednesday night on the Hill, and 25-19 over Hobart at Geneva Saturday.

A fast-breaking offense and close checking on the defense enabled the Buff and Blue to maintain a lead over Union throughout the entire game, with the exception of two short periods in the first half. Crowley started the scoring with a field goal shortly after the game started.

Buff And Blue Leads At Half

Two baskets, made by H. Livingston and Rice, soon gave Union a two-point lead which was immediately evened up by Hiler. H. Livingston sank a foul shot to put his team in the lead for the last time in the game, since Hiler soon proceeded to make matters equal as he had done before. The closest tha tthe visitors got after that in the initial half was one point, 10-9, the Continentals leading at the mid-point by 18-14.

The Hill team spurted aggressively at the start of the last period and acquired a 10-point edge over their rivals, 30-20, from which advantage they had plain sailing to victory.

Hiler Stars On Offense

Don Hiler, playing one of his best games this season, caged seven field goals and two fouls for 16 points to feature the Continentals' attack. Crowley and Pritchard shared runner-up honors in the scoring.

At Hobart, the Buff and Blue quintet got off to another fast start and rapidly ran up a five-point advantage before the home team could sink a shot. The victors' offense was clicking again with considerable consistency and the usual careful guarding prevailed.

Score Tied In Second Period

At half-time, the score stood 17-15 in favor of Hamilton, but was tied at the start of the next period. The Buff and Blue then pulled ahead and was not approached again. Only one substitute saw service in this encounter, and the senior members of the combination who were playing their last intercollegiate contest, turned in excellent performances.

Hiler once more provided the heavy scoring with a total of 13 points, while Hageny of the opponents led his team's total with 12. Dutcher, in making good all his foul shots, ended the season with the enviable record of nine points in ten tries.

The annual banquet of the Quadrangle Club will be held at the Hotel Martin this evening at 7 o'clock Last year's members of Quadrangle will be the guests of the freshmen. Two members of Was Los and one member of Pentagon will also attend the banquet.

Choir To Start On Trip Friday Morning

Leaving the Hill at 10 o'clock Friday morning, 60 members of the choir, directed by Professor Paul A. Fancher, will inaugurate the opening of the spring trip that evening with a recital at Summit, New Jersey.

The complete schedule will include the opening concert at Summit, Friday evening, followed by appearances at Scarborough, Saturday evening; the Guild Theater, in New York City, Sunday afternoon; and the Broadway Presbyterian Church in New York City, Monday evening. Special arrangements have been made to accommodate the members of the choir in private homes for the most part, with the exception of time spent in New York City.

COURT SEASON BEST IN YEARS

Team Most Successful Seen On Hill In Past Five Seasons

Victories over Union and Hobart, giving the Buff and Blue quintet a record of six triumphs and seven defeats, climaxed the most successful season the Hamilton College basketball team has experienced in the past five years.

Despite injuries which cost him the services of Morris, star forward, after the fourth game, and Captain Carpenter, regular guard, after the sixth contest, Coach Weber developed a team which was a worthy foe for all of its opponents except the powerful University of Buffalo five, which handed the Buff and Blue a 52-18 drubbing.

Open Season Against St. Lawrence

The season opened with the fast St. Lawrence team which lost, 23-21, but the Buff and Blue was forced to bow before the strong final period attack of Alfred in the next contest and take a 34-22 count. After midyears the Hill courtmen again broke into the winning column with a 21-18 victory over Clarkson, only to lose the next three games to Rochester, St. Lawrence and Clarkson.

Lose On Road Trips

Two victories followed over Trinity and St. Stephens, but the Continentals once again showed their inability to play at top speed on foreign courts by losing three straight games to Alfred, Rochester and Buffalo on the second road trip of the season. After defeating Union at Clinton, the Buff and Blue quintet ended the season by winning its only victory away from home when it subdued Hobart at Geneva .

Hiler Is High Scorer

Don Hiler, veteran forward, who played his last game for the Buff and Blue Saturday night, took scoring honors with a total of 89 points. Second place went to Crowley, who accounted for 69 points. The team was outscored by its opponents, 383 to 347.

STELLAR LINEMAN RECEIVES FOWLER FOOTBALL AWARD

John A. Rodger, '31, Honored By His Teammates For Sportsmanship

IS INITIAL PRIZE WINNER

Announcement Made Between Halves Of Hamilton-Union Basketball Game

John A. Rodger, '31, was presented with the 1929 Richard S. Fowler football award, between the halves of the Hamilton-Union basketball game Wednesday night. Coach Winters announced the winner and presented the medal after preliminary remarks by Coach Prettyman.

The Fowler Award, made for the first time this year, will come an annual honor, and will be presented at the end of each season to the member of the football squad, who, in the opinion of his teammates and the coach, has proved himself the most interested in the welfare of the team and has displayed the best attitude and sportsmanship on the field throughout the season.

In announcing the 1929 winner, Coach Winters submitted the following characterization: "The recipient of this award has been acknowledged by his associates as a hard worker, an example of persistent effort and a source of optimism for his fellow players. He has been most loyal in the observance of training rules, and has helped others where he could. Whether on the field or on the bench, his attitude has always been toward the best interest of the team.

"He showed courage and determination in the face of physical handicaps. Alibis had no part in his playing. After a game was over his thoughts were toward the next game. His ability to maintain self control and to give his best at all times are characteristics which his teammates have recognized in recommending him for the award.

"Modesty has always been an attribute; playing to the bleachers held no interest for him nor affected his playing. Football was a game to be played for the joy that it afforded. In consideration of these factors, which have so characterized the part

FOWLER NOTED FOR CLEAN PLAY

Donor Of Award a Stellar Football Player As An Undergraduate

"He is one of the best athletes that ever bore Hamilton colors," is the manner in which the Dec. 7, 1920, issue of Hamilton Life describes Richard S. Fowler, '23, donor of the Fowler Award.

Fowler, who was captain of the Buff and Blue foot ball team in his junior year, had an admirable disposition. "He was a lover of football. It was a real game to him. He was a gentlemanly, hard-driving player who never lost his head," Mr. Prettyman, College Director of Athletics, said, when interviewed by a Life reporter.

The former Buff and Blue star played tackle on the varsity team his freshman year, center his sophomore year, center, tackle and fullback his junior year, and the same his senior year. He ranks among the best Hamilton football players in the last 12 or 13 years. He was a member of Pentagon, president of his class junior year, and a member of Sigma Phi.

Hamiltonians Hold Dinner In Paris

Paris, France, Feb. 16 — A Hamilton Dinner was held this evening, at the Royal Monceau Hotel in Paris. Eight men were present, all of whom addressed the meeting.

The gathering included a Trustee of the College, a member of the faculty, an Administrative Officer of the College, alumni, and an undergraduate. Those present were: Ernst O .Heyl, '99; Professor Milledge L. Bonham; Albert O. Getman, '11; Ivan M. Ingersoll, '15; Wallace B. Johnson, '15; N. Curtis Giddings, '19; Harry P. Weston, '29; and Arthur S. Bates, '31. The singing of Hamilton songs, discussions of college topics, and personal reminiscences added to the pleasure of the meeting.

MEDIOCRE ICE SEASON CLOSED

Four Wins Follow Four Defeats As Team Shows Steady Improvement

The victory over Colgate on Saturday brought to a close a hockey season featured by a number of fast and exciting games. Although the first four tilts on the schedule were lost, the team showed steady improvement throughout the season and won the next four encounters to balance the record of games won and lost.

Lose First Four Games

The sextet went down to defeat before the University of Michigan, Mass. Aggies, Cornell and Middlebury, the 6-0 drubbing administered by Cornell being the worst defeat suffered by a Hamilton hockey team in three years.

Win Four Straight

The Buff and Blu team rolled up eight points against both St. Lawrence and St. Stephens, holding the losers to one and two goals, respectively. In the game with the Larries, Wilson scored five of the eight Hamilton counters. The 4-1 win over Amherst was the high light of the season and the team displayed by far its best form in this game, the passing attack working to perfection. The season closed with a 1-0 victory at the expense of Colgate, avenging the defeat suffered at the hands of the Maroon last year.

Wilson and Redmond Star

Wilson and Redmond were the most consistent performers throughout the season. Wilson was high scorer, with nine goals and three assists to his credit. With the exception of the Cornell game, when he was off form, Redmond played a stellar game in this cage. It was his sensational work that held Michigan scoreless for two periods in the first game of the season.

Ford was one of the most creditable players on the team, as was O. Smith, until he received an injury in the Amherst game which kept him off the ice for the rest of the season. Each accounted for three goals.

SEXTET WINS LAST GAME OF SEASON

Avenges Last Year's Defeat By Subduing Colgate Team 1-0

SOFT ICE SLOWS PLAY

Wilson Scores Goal in Last Period of Spirited Contest

Closing the hockey season Saturday night, the Buff and Blue avenged the defeat suffered at the hands of Colgate last year with a 1-0 victory over the Maroon sextet. The game was marred by soft ice.

Because of the condition of the ice, the game was played in four 12-minute periods. The teams battled on fairly even terms throughout the first three stanzas, and it seemed probable that the game would go to an overtime period. But the break came in the final period when Wilson scored in 5:20. Colgate's desperate efforts to tie the score before the final whistle blew failed.

Colgate Takes Offensive

Colgate took the offensive at the outset and rushed the puck down the ice. The Buff and Blue attack soon got underway and the game see-sawed up and down the ice, although frequent fumbling of the puck somewhat slowed the action.

In the second period Hamilton gave up all attempts at passing and resorted to long shots from the center zone. Colgate continued to carry the puck into the Continentals' defensive zone, although for the most part attempts to pass failed and the play was mainly

SKI RUN HELD LAST SUNDAY

Tuthill, '32, Wins All-College Title; Dekes, Sopohomores Triumph

In the combined Annual Interfraternity, Interclass, and All-College Championship cross-country ski run held Sunday afternoon, Delta Kappa Epsilon annexed the most points, the sophomores led the other three classes and Robert N. Tuthill, '32, won the All-College championship.

In previous years, these three races were held separately, necessitating considerable bother to the athletic department, and producinng several contradictory results. The combined meet had been postponed from Washington's Birthday, on which date it was originally scheduled, due to poor weather conditions.

The sophomores won the interclass feature with a total of 23 points, while the juniors were close runners-up with 26. The score was computed as in cross-country running with the low aggregate best.

The interfraternity cup, previously held by Alpha Delta Phi, passed to the Dekes, who succeeded in massing

CHARLATANS TO GO TO ROCHESTER

Dramatic Club Will Present Gogol's Comedy There This Month

The Charlatans will produce the Russian comedy, "The Inspector-General," in Rochester on the evening of March 22. The play will be staged in Catherine Strong Hall at the University of Rochester, under the auspices of the Rochester Hamilton Alumni Association and the College Women's Club.

Announcement has been made by John H. Jones, '31, president of the Charlatans, that the same cast will appear in the play as when it was produced in the Hall of Commons on February 10. Robert Fay, '33, will again have the leading role of the gay adventurer who is mistaken for an agent of the czar, and in consequence bleeds the officials of the small town in which the story is laid.

Since the setting for the play is very simple, the preparations for the production will be made at Rochester, and it will not be necessary for the stage staff to go on ahead. This is the first time this year that the Charlatans have undertaken to present a play away from the Hill.

MEETING OF GERMAN CLUB AT DEKE HOUSE

Talk By B. W. Drummond, '31, Features Regular Monthly Gathering

"Martin Luther and the New Testament" was the subject of an address by Burke W. Drummond, '31, at the regular monthly meeting of the German Club held at the Delta Kappa Epsilon House Friday evening. Drummond presented an interesting outline of Luther's varied activities during his voluntary confinement at the Wartburgh in the Turingian forest in 1521.

Milton Kinsey, president of the club, presided over the meeting, which was attended by Professor Edward D. Hauch and Mr. Paul B. Haist, Instructor in German.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served and the members of the club sang German folk songs.

CHOIR RECITAL GIVEN ON HILL

Mrs. Patterson's Arrangement Of Brahms Song Given Ovation

The college choir gave a special recital to an enthusiastic audience of undergraduates and faculty members in the Hall of Commons on Sunday evening. Under the direction of Professor Paul A. Fancher, the same program was presented which will be offered at the Guild Theater, New York City, on Sunday afternoon.

This is the first time that the choir has appeared before the college since its Christmas recital, and the long applause which greeted its singing attested to the excellence of the performance. The program was divided into three parts and contained selections from Palestrina, Bach, Brahms, Morales, Lvov, Buxtehude, Christiansen, Beltjens, La Forge, Fisher and Warrell.

A distinct feature of the evening was the premiere of Mein Madel hat ein Rosenmund by Johannes Brahms, arranged for the choir by Mrs. Mary E. D. Patterson, wife of Professor Boyd C. Patterson. Mrs. Patterson was given an enthusiastic ovation by the audience upon the singing of her arrangement.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE WILL DEBATE HERE

Albany Team To Oppose Hamiltonians On Disarmament Question

"Resolved: That the several nations adopt a policy of complete disarmament, reserving only enough for a police force," is the question that will be debated here on Saturday, March 15, between the Hamilton debating team and the representatives of the New York State Teachers' College.

Although the membership of the Albany team has not been learned as yet, it is possible that some, if not all, of the combination will be girls. Hamilton will uphold the negative side of the question.

MUSICAL ART SOCIETY PLANS THREE CONCERTS THIS SEMESTER

Three more concerts are planned by the Musical Art Society this semester. On March 19, the Musical Art Quartet, which has appeared before on the Hill, will give a recital. At a later date, Marie Rosanoff, cellist of the Musical Art Quartet, will give a sonata recital.

To supplement these concerts Professor Berrian R. Shute has recently started the formation of a college orchestra. Practices under his direction are being held in Silliman Hall every Tuesday evening. Undergraduates having musical ability, who are interested in becoming members of the orchestra, are urged to see Professor Shute as soon as possible. Instruments particularly in demand are second clarinet, trombone, mellophone, French horns and second trumpet.

So far ,the members of the orchestra are: Violins, R. P. Carpenter and R. W. Cruser, '31, G. W. Hofstetter and R. L. Smith, '32, and P. B. Saunders, '33; viola, Dr. A. P. Saunders; 'cello, W. B. Mason, '33; flute, A .R. Bailey, '30; clarinet, J. F. Lawton, '30; trumpet, R. J. Redmond, '33. Saxophones are being used at present for the following instruments: T. G. Law, '30, bassoon, on bass saxophone; and H. A. Rodgers, '30, French horn, on alto saxophone. R. J. Hicks, '33, is playing the piano.

While nothing definite has yet been decided about the organization's activities, practice has been started on Schubert's overture, "Rosamunde," and Bizet's L'Arlesienne suite, and it is expected that a concert will be given about the end of the semester.

Professor Shute is also starting a series of informal lecture-recitals on Beethoven. The first recital will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Silliman Hall. Professor Shute plans to go over Beethoven's nine symphonies and several pianoforte sonatas which belong to the same general period. There will be more playing than lecturing.

Each Wednesday evening for the next four or five weeks will be spent in going over the Beethoven symphonies, and if these informal musical evenings are a success, Professor Shute expects to make them a regular feature of musical activities on the Hill.

WALLACE B. JOHNSON RETURNS TO HILL AFTER EUROPEAN TOUR

"Russia is a perfectly feasible place to travel in," said Wallace B. Johnson, Secretary of Admissions, when interviewed by a Life reporter Monday afternoon. Mr. Johnson, accompanied by Harry P. Weston, '29, returned Saturday on the "Roma," after a European tour on which he visited 15 countries.

"The Russians are very courteous and seem to have a genuine desire for visitors to carry off a pleasant impression of the country. They are intensely interested in culture. Under the supervision of the government, many lectures are given which are popular with the people. Art concerts are still under the direction of the great masters who have been retained by the government.

"It is not a democratic country, and does not profess to be one. Two million Communists control a population of one hundred and fifty millions.

"Everything seems to have been turned upside down. The worker is superior, and the man who employs workers is looked down upon by the people. There is no private property; everything is owned by the government. Some individual business still exists. The more disagreeable a job, the higher is the wage paid to the worker.

"The government is anti-religious and has taken over all church property. If a sufficient number of persons wish to form a church and can get together enough funds to rent one from the state they are permitted to do so. There were far too many churches in Russia previous to the revolution. Some of these have been converted by the government to social and cultural purposes. The orthodox religion is tolerated, although the state maintains anti-religious museums in which exhibits are held tending to show that religion has always been oppressive.

"The universities are crowded. Students are paid by the government while they are attending school. It is on this fact that the state bases its claim that professional men should not receive as much pay as the worker, since the government gave them their education and paid them while they were being educated."

During their stay in Russia, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Weston were furnished with a guide by the government. He acted as an interpreter and accompanied them everywhere. Mr. Johnson hurried back to this country in order to complete arrangements for the choir recitals this week-end.

OUR UGLY DUCKLING

Despite rebuffs, first at the hands of the college authorities, and then from the students themselves, our ugly duckling, the Press Board, is still with us. Years ago this group was one of the most efficient of our undergraduate organizations. It was aided in its work by a subsidy from the college authorities and further helped by having such capable men as Melvin Gilbert Dodge and Samuel Hopkins Adams on its advisory board. Connections were established with many newspapers and with the Associated Press, with the result that the publicity enjoyed by Hamilton College at that time was sufficient to satisfy any Hamilton man imbued wtih pride for his Alma Mater. The motive ascribed to the college authorities for withdrawing this aid to the Press Board is that the publicity reached an undesirable extent. Unbelievable as this may seem to present undergraduates, it is, nevertheless, true.

That the students recognize the value of the work done by the Board, and wish to have it continued, was evidenced by their action at the Spring meeting of the Undergraduate Association in 1928, when a subsidy was voted to the Press Board as well as to the newly-revived Literary Magazine. What happened to this subsidy is somewhat of a mystery; it was never collected and seems to have died a natural death. Since that time the Press Board has struggled on without any aid, and its work has consequently suffered. At present the Chairman receives no compensation for his efforts, and whatever money is earned by the Board is turned over to the Bursar, who uses it in a vain attempt to cover expenses incurred by the Board.

It is patent that the Board is not fulfilling its task. Students are far from satisfied with the publicity that the college receives, and the alumni have actively protested. The reason for this lack of efficiency on the part of the Press Board is not hard to find. It is not anything new, nor unusual, merely another application of the old law that you cannot get something for nothing. We cannot hamper an organization in every way and then expect it to function. The record made by the Press Board during the football season of sending out more than 25,000 words is especially noteworthy when we consider the handicap it has.

There are several reasons for the undergraduates' active interest in student publications. One is that they feel they should do something to raise the prestige of their fraternity, and upperclassmen advise publications work as one way in which they can do their share. Unfortunately, when this is the reason, their work usually ends when they have made the particular board they are trying for. Another reason is a desire to dangle some sort of a key on their watch chain, either the key offered by the board itself or by Pi Delta Epsilon. Here again it is quite likely that their industry will slacken when they have procured a key. Fortunately, there are students who go out for undergraduate publications because they are actually interested, but even these men must have some incentive to keep their interest alive. This incentive exists for members of the staffs of the "Gaboon" and Life in that holders of executive positions on these boards receive money for their efforts, and members are, therefore, anxious to compete for these positions. This is decidedly not the case with the Press Board. The Chairman is hindered at every turn by a lack of funds to carry on his work, with no hope for any reward for his efforts. Furthermore, the work of the Board is of such a nature that men participating in it get none of the glory or prestige that members of other undergraduate publication boards receive. They have not the satisfaction, immaterial as it is, of seeing their work in print. Whatever they write is printed in some distant newspaper, if it is printed at all. In short, they get nothing, material or otherwise, for their efforts. Can they, therefore, be blamed for a lack of initiative?

At present the Press Board is supported by money received from newspapers. But newspapers pay for material they solicit and nothing more. They request writeups of games and the like, and are willing to pay for them; material dealing with personal achievements and new buildings is not requested. If such stories are sent in they are more than glad to use them, gratis. On the other hand, the Chairman of the Press Board is unwilling, and rightly so, to spend time and money sending out material for which he is to receive no return. He is sufficiently handicapped by a lean treasury, usually containing less than ten dollars, without undergoing any additional expense. At the same time, the newspapers cannot be censured for refusing to pay for this type of news, since other colleges gladly send them such material free of charge. The beneficiary of this free advertising should undergo the expense incurred in sending out this material, not the Chairman of the Press Board; and the beneficiary is the college.

The possiblities for publicity here at Hamilton are great; there is no reason why they should not be utilized. Every time a student is elected to a class office or chosen to captain an athletic team the newspapers in his home town should be notified. This is relatively unimportant to the students, acquainted as they are with the true nature and multiplicity of campus honors, but it is real news to the people back home and is desirable publicity for the college. Even more important is material which is interesting to the country at large. Last Commencement, for example, Dr. Owen D. Young was awarded an honorary degree at a time when he was considered "news" by papers the world over. News that he had received an honorary degree at Hamilton should have been published in every newspaper in the country, and perhaps in foreign countries. This event, however, received scarcely any notice, because it was not handled as it should have been, and would have been if Hamilton had possessed a fully equipped news-dispensing service. The Hon. Elihu Root is a man of nation-wide prominence, yet his connection with this college does not receive the publicity it might. This is also true of Myers lecturers, new buildings, and other activities outside the realm of sports, the publicity of which, properly handled, would contribute to the prestige of the college.

Whether or not such publicity is desirable is a question that may arouse conflicting opinions. We believe that it is not only desirable but an absolute necessity. We might almost say that "we are tired"; tired of explaining, during vacations, just what and where and why is Hamilton College. Other colleges maintain efficient publicity bureaus; Hamilton must do the same or remain obscure in the public eye.

The establishment of a publicity bureau here would not involve any large expenditure of money. The plan employed at other colleges of having a salaried publicity man in charge of student writers, who also receive compensation, could be followed. The advantage of maintaining a regular publicity man is that we should not have a fluctuating news-dispensing service, a publicity bureau efficient one year and inefficient the next. The money for this bureau should come from the college, and from no other source. An efficient publicity bureau would soon be recognized by newspapers, with the result that requests for news would come in with such volume that the ratio of paid to unpaid material would make the bureau partially, if not wholly, self-supporting. Publicity is desirable and necessary. We have the material; we need the instrument. K. S. C., '31.

HILL STUDENTS IN AUTO CRASH

Three Injured, One Shaken As Result Of Head-On Collision

Four Hamilton College students narrowly escaped very serious injury when their light car collided head-on with another vehicle in the blinding snow on the Syracuse-Utica road near Vernon late Saturday night. Robert P. Carpenter, '30, football and basketball captain, received a jagged gash across his forehead and is now resting at his home in Cortland.

The other occupants of the car were David P. Fairchild, '31; Chauncey D. Cowles, Jr., and Newton W. Pierson, '33. Fairchild sustained a painful lip injury, while Pierson suffered a strained and bruised back. Cowles was uninjured, but was badly shaken up.

The accident was unavoidable, as both cars became caught in a rut and neither was noticed by the occupants of the other until little space was between them. The Hamiltonians were returning to the Hill after having spent the evening in Syracuse.

HILL SENIOR CHOSEN TO LEAD SCOUT CAMP

Beetle, '30, Is Fourth Hamilton Man To Direct Camp Russell

The appointment of David H. Beetle, '30, as director of Camp Russell, the Utica Council's Boy Scout camp on White Lake, for the approaching Summer session marks the fourth time that a Hamilton man has been chosen for this position. William H. Spice, Jr., '22; Hamilton H. Bookout, '27, and C. Spencer Phillips, '30, are former directors of the camp.

Mr. Beetle has been connected with the camp for eight years, during six of which he was a member of the leaders' staff. In 1926, he received the highest leadership award at Camp Russell, when he served as scouting director and director of nature study. He is an Eagle Scout, an American Red Cross Senior Life Guard.

The camp enrollment ranges from 125 to 175.

LIFE BOARD ELECTS THREE NEW REPORTERS

Freshman Competition Is Continued For Three Other Candidates

At a meeting of the Hamilton Life Board, held last Tuesday morning after Chapel, three freshmen, Howard C. Hosmer, Marshall L. Marquardt, and Phillip W. Schleit, were elected to the reportorial staff.

The competition will be continued for another three weeks among Edward N. Main, Herman F. Schilz and Henry H. Work, after which time two men will be selected. During the past month, an unusually large number of feature stories and news items were turned in by the competitors.

FRESHMEN TEAM WINS COURT CHAMPIONSHIP

Seniors Forfeit To Give Sophomores Lead In Interclass Hockey

The freshmen clinched their hold on first place in the interclass basketball tournament last week by defeating the juniors on Wednesday, 21-16, and the sophomores on Saturday, 22-13. Meanwhile, the sophomores climbed into top place in hockey when a sufficient number of seniors failed to appear on the ice Friday, thereby forfeiting the game. This brought the seniors into a tie for second place with the freshmen, who handed the juniors a 2-0 defeat.

The freshmen defeated the juniors in basketball and the sophomores trounced the seniors, 22-14. The first year men continued their winning streak Saturday at the expense of the sophomores, and the juniors took second place by their 43-16 victory over the seniors.

confined to individual stick work. The Buff and Blue missed several good chances to score as the period closed.

Wilson Scores Goal

The third stanza was a repetition of the second ,although Hamilton was shooting more often than the visitors. The game went into the final period with both teams making a desperate bid to score. Neither seemed to hold the advantage until Wilson tallied to put the Continentals out in front. Taking the puck down the ice, he scored on a slow shot that slid toward the cage without leaving the ice and jumped over the goalie's stick. Colgate's efforts to knot the count in the remaining half of the period failed.

Wilson played well for Hamilton, while Howe excelled for the visitors.

A Gentleman from Williams

Williams College is not so near Utica. Therefore, when a man "makes" the distance in order to buy clothes, there must be something especially attractive in those clothes.

Having seen a Roberts-Wicks suit on a friend, a gentleman from Williams did "make" the distance.

Incidents such as these are significant of the fact that Roberts-Wicks Clothes do offer university men the cut and tailoring which they desire.

FOWLER AWARD WINNER ANNOUNCED

this individual has played in the interests of football at Hamilton this past season, I wish to present the Richard S. Fowler award to John A. Rodger."

The recipient of the award has had two years experience on the varsity and also played on the freshman team. During the past season his work on the line contributed greatly to the Buff and Blue defense. Until an injury to his ankle handicapped his playing, he gave an outstanding exhibition at roving center on the defense and guard on the offense, after which he was shifted to a guard position permanently. While a freshman he was elected to the Quadrangle Club. He is a member of the Emerson Literary Society.

New Material Developed

In addition, a wealth of new material was brought to light. Corwin and Hughes bade fair to become the regular defense combination until the former was injured at mid-season and forced out for the remainder of the year. Hughes was assigned a regular berth and proved to be the ablest defense man on the squad.

Lester and Wettlaufer were unearthed from the sophomore ranks and both performed creditably, giving much promise for the future. Lester was second high scorer on the team, registering four tallies during the season.

The Continentals' total score for the year exceeded the combined score of their opponents by five, the team tallying 24 times as compared with 19 counters scored against them.

In response to the prolonged applause, the choir sang three encores. It gave two French carols, "Bring a Torch" and "Touro-Louro-Louro," and then climaxed the evening with the Virgin's Cradle Hymn. The program included songs in Latin, French, German, English and Russian.

FENCING TEAM SWAMPS COLGATE

Hill Swordsmen Meet With Little Opposition — Win All But Three Bouts

Sweeping all opposition before it, the Hamilton College fencing team easily defeated the inexperienced Colgate swordsmen, 14-3, in the Soper Gymnasium Saturday afternoon. Coach Gelas seized the opportunity for giving some second string men experience and did not use Captain Niemeyer, Jarrett, Hartman or Best.

The meet was featured by the work of the epee team, which won all of its matches, and by the individual work of Bannerman.

Hostilities opened with a victory for Allen of Colgate over Nichols. This lead, however, was immediately overcome by Bannerman and, except for the victory of Capitanian over Eggleston, the Colgate team failed to score again in the foils event. Bannerman, with three complete victories, 5-3, 5-1, and 5-2, was the outstanding performer in the foils. After his first loss, Eggleston came back strongly and took both of his other matches.

The epee team did the best work of the meet. Puglisi and Bailey, with Hancock as substitute, were not touched throughout the entire contest. A feature of the contest was the win scored by Hancock over Dye of Colgate on the first thrust.

Both Frazee and Hutchinson acquitted themselves well in the sabre matches, each defeating his opponent easily. Coach Gelas used two more new men in this event, Chase and Fisher. Chase was defeated by his opponent, Allen, but Fisher scored a victory over Kochendorfer.

The coachless team from Colgate showed fine spirit and gives promise of becoming a powerful opponent. The judging, which was done by the two captains, Niemeyer and Allen, showed an almost professional accuracy. The summary:

Foils—Allen (C.) defeated Nichols (H.), 5-1; Bannerman (H.) defeated Allen (C.), 5-3; Dillenbeck (C.), 5-1; defeated Allen (C.), 5-4; Dillenbeck (C.), 5-1; Fredman (H.) defeated Dillenbeck (C.), 5-2; Capitanian (C.) 5-4; Capitanian (C.) defeated Eggleston (H.), 4-5.

Totals—Hamilton 7, Colgate 2.

Epee—Puglisi (H.) defeated Dye (C.), 1-0; Hamblin (C.), 1-0; Bailey (H.) defeated Hamblin, 1-0; Hancock (H.) defeated Dye, 1-0.

Totals—Hamilton 4, Colgate 0.

Sabre—Frazee (H.) defeated Allen (C.), 5-3; Hutchinson (H.) defeated Kochendorfer (C.), 5-2; Fisher (H.) defeated Kochendorfer (C.), 5-3; Allen (C.) defeated Chase (H.), 5-2.

Totals—Hamilton 3, Colgate 1.

Less Sickness On Campus This Year

Hamilton undergraduates are much more immune to disease this year than last! A recent investigation of infirmary records shows that at no time during the 1929-1930 college year, so far, have the infirmary accommodations been sorely tried.

A year ago, the campus was suffering from an epidemic of influenza that swept the country. The infirmary was taxed to its utmost capacity with a high total of 28 patients in bed, and scores of dispensary cases were treated every day. At the present time, however, only "walking" cases of colds, indigestion and pink eye require the attention of Dr. Hamlin.

ONE CHANGE IS MADE IN POLY SCI SCHEDULE

General Change Forces Revision Of Students' Other Courses

Only one change in schedules has been found necessary by the Committee on Schedules, after illness forced Dr. Frank H. Wood to temporarily discontinue his classes in Political Science. This change has been to shift the second hour section of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday to the first hour, combining it with the other division of political science, 3-4, which has been meeting then.

All of Dr. Wood's classes, in the combined 3-4 section and two sections of 5-6, have been taken over by Professor Walter H. Laves, while the latter has been relieved of one of his three divisions of political science 1-2 by Associate Professor George L. Ridgeway. Although only one general change has been made, many of the students in this class found it necessary to shift some of their other classes in order to make the change.

NEWMAN CLUB PLANS DANCE AFTER EASTER

Father Moore Addresses Meeting At Chi Beta Sigma House

About 10 members attended a meeting of the Newman Club which was held at the Chi Beta Sigma House Thursday evening. An informal discussion was held on any topic those present wished to bring up. Father Moore addressed the group on the Index of Catholic books.

Plans were inaugurated for a dance to be held at the Lyceum in Clinton some time after Easter. The matter of choosing delegates to the National Convention of Newman Clubs to be held in Boston, July 2-5, was also discussed, but the election of representatives was put off to a future meeting.

COLLEGE FIRE PROTECTION SYSTEM VASTLY IMPROVED

Sixty-Eight Thousand Dollars Appropriated During Last Five Years

FINAL INSPECTION SOON

Resources More Than Adequate As Result Of Many New Improvements

In accordance with the policy adopted by the Board of Trustees in 1925, approximately sixty-eight thousand dollars have been expended during the last five years on a program of improvement's to Hamilton's fire protection system. It is expected that the College will be placed on a protected basis by the Underwriters in the near future, after a final test and inspection has been made.

When the last of the three College reservoirs was completed in 1921, it was learned that, although the total capacity amounted to more than twenty-five million gallons, small mains made it impossible for an effective supply of water to be available where needed for fire protection. In 1925 the Board of Trustees appropriated fifteen thousand dollars for fire protection, and eight-inch mains were laid on the campus. Also the number of hydrants was increased and larger mains were installed on College Street east and west of the campus. At this time plans were inaugurated for a larger main from the reservoirs to the campus, a distance of approximately two miles.

Difficulties Encountered

Some difficulties were encountered in the construction of this main. Previously, both the representative of the insurance company and the Underwriters had recommended the installation of a main at least 10 inches in size, as well as the formation of a fire brigade and the purchase of a piece of fire-fighting apparatus. Specific demands now made by the Underwriters made it imperative that the new main be 12 inches for almost the total distance and then be 10 inches from a point where the fall would bring about an increase in velocity which would compensate for the diminished size of the pipe. Another difficulty, that of securing the right of way, had to be overcome before construction could be started.

Early in 1928 a bequest of fifty-three thousand dollars from the widow of Charles H. Stanton, former Bursar of the College, provided the necessary funds and work was started. The main was completed in the spring of 1929, at which time adequate protection was also assured for the new houses on College Street by laying an eight-inch main along College Street from Griffin Road west to the border of the College property and connecting this main with the new 12-inch fire line.

System Now More Than Adequate

The improvement in fire protection may be better understood by considering that, prior to the completion of the larger main, the water supply at the campus provided but one stream of 250 gallons per minute with effective pressure. If a second stream were added, the pressure fell to less than 30 pounds. At present four streams of 250 gallons each per minute at a pressure of 62 pounds are available under gravity flow, and this can be doubled if a pumper is used. Both supply and pressure are considerably in excess of the Underwriters' requirements.

Equipment has also been materially increased. A Brockway motor truck, equipped with a 250-gallon American LaFrance pump, was purchased recently, and is now housed on the campus. The truck holds 1,200 feet of two and a half inch hose and is equipped with a 40-gallon chemical tank with 200 feet of three-quarter-inch hose. It will accommodate at least 10 men and has been approved by the Underwriters. The College now has an abundant supply of hose and other equipment for fire-fighting purposes.

Telephone In New Fire House

The fire engine is housed in the new shop and a sleeping room has been arranged immediately over the section occupied by the apparatus. This room will be connected with an independent telephone line, to be used only in case of fire. If a fire should occur during the night, both the man occupying this room and the night watchman will be available immediately. The College contributes to the support of the Clinton Fire Department, which responds to all alarms. In the event of a serious fire assistance would be given by the Utica Fire Department.

A fire brigade is being organized which will be made up mainly of men living in the vicinity of the College who could respond quickly whenever a fire occurred, whether day or night. At least two men will be on the grounds at all times who are familiar with the operation of the fire apparatus.

How To Report a Fire

Fires may be reported by telephoning the Fire House or by using the fire siren in the College Chapel. The siren is controlled by a switch in the rear of the Chapel basement, and directions for its operation are posted in a conspicuous place. A light is always kept burning near the alarm box and keys for opening the box are kept at the Office, at the Shop, at the homes of College officers, and at the different fraternity houses.

Fire Has Caused Little Damage Here

Fire protection seems almost unnecessary if past records prove anything. According to E. M. Coughlin, Bursar of the College, there is no instance on the records of a fire for the damages of which a claim was filed with the insurance company. Such conflagrations as have occurred did not cause enough damage to warrant a claim.

With her at the microphone was Joe Coslow, Tin Pan Alley song writer.

TWO CLASSES PRESENT PLAYS

Seniors And Sophomores Show Talent in Charlatans' Cup Competition

An enthusiastic audience greeted the first two plays in competition for the Charlatans' Cup in the Hall of Commons on Saturday evening, following the hockey game.

Dunnsany's famous "A Night At An Inn" was given by the seniors. The acting on the part of the entire cast was very creditable. John Niemeyer as Sniggers and Vernon Ives as the Toff gave outstanding performances.

The sophomore class presented "In the Zone," by Eugene O'Neill. The play introduces a group of sailors on board a tramp ship loaded with ammunition. The sailors, who are supposed to be of different nationalities, all carried off their parts well, from the broken English of Ivan and Driscoll's broad brogue to the cokney of Cocky.

The Senior Cast: A. E. Scott-Fortesque (the Toff), Vernon Ives; William Jones (Bill), Henry A. Rogers; Albert Thomas, Edward P. Costello; Jacob Smith (Sniggers) John H. Niemeyer; First Priest of Klesh, Thomas F. Moore, Jr.; Second Priest of Klesh, Robert A. Hill; Third Priest of Klesh, Latimer B. Senior; Klesh, William A. Jarrett.

The Sophomore Cast: Smitty, N. Morey Eames; Davis, Clifford A. Lewis; Swanson, Henry T. Maijgren; Scotty, Theodore H. Harwood; Ivan, Wliliam A. Woodcock; Jack, Waterman Baldwin; Driscoll, John J. Walsh; Cocky, William Sloane.

FENCING TEAM MEETS NAVY AND PRINCETON

Swordsmen Face Two Dual Meets On Southern Trip This Week

Initiating dual meet relations with two institutions, the Hamilton fencing team will journey south this week-end for engagements with Princeton and Annapolis, meeting the former Friday and the latter Saturday.

Past experience gained in the recent contests with Columbia, Yale, Cornell and Colgate will be a valuable asset when the Buff and Blue stacks up against the strong Orange and Black team. This will be felt even more when the Navy, which has one of the most skilled and experienced groups in the league, provides the opposition. Princeton defeated Columbia two weeks ago by almost the same score as the latter trimmed the Continental swordsmen.
